

⋮

Society for Student Philosophers

Annual Conference
University of Texas at Austin
April 9-11, 2010

Conference Theme: Philosophy & Communication

Keynote Speakers: Dr. Larry A. Hickman
Department of Philosophy
Southern Illinois University, Carbondale

Dr. Gerard A. Hauser
Department of Communication
University of Colorado at Boulder

Call for Papers

The Society for Student Philosophers (SSP) invites the submission of papers for possible presentation at its 2010 conference at the University of Texas at Austin. We are especially interested in papers that touch on some topic connected to our conference theme—"Philosophy and Communication." Many topics in philosophy and communication have relevance to those in the other field, for example, topics in ethics, new technologies, aesthetics, art, the public sphere, free speech, the philosophy of language, rhetoric, metaphor, persuasion, issues of social/political philosophy, etc. While submissions do not need to focus specifically on "philosophy and communication," papers that have some relevance for both fields are especially encouraged.

Authors must be of on-going graduate or undergraduate student status (in any discipline) and papers must not be published or accepted for publication. Papers previously presented at SSP events are excluded from submission. Papers should be suitable for a 25 minute presentation. Leave identifying references to the author out of the submitted paper, but include author information (address, department, institution, etc.) in the text of your email.

For more details on the conference, check out the SSP website: <http://www.societyforstudentphilosophers.org/>. Please send your paper by November 2, 2009 to Dr. Scott R. Stroud, SSP Director, at: ssp_conference@hotmail.com

Deadline: November 2, 2009 ⋮